Dr. Traywick's Face Reflects Answers To Reporter's Questions At News Conference

Record Set For Mid-Year Enrollment

The University of Omaha has once more set a record for enrollment during a mid-term period.

This was the word from OU's Registrar Virgil Sharpe. Mr. Sharpe said, "We have more students registered for this spring's semester than ever before."

Asked about numbers enrolled, Mr. Sharpe said: "We are not ready to release any exact figures since Data processing has not finished final computations."

Mr. Sharpe said registration went "quite smoothly, but there were a few problems." He added, however, some students did have some trouble during the last days of registration. He said the reason was due to closed classes.

As far as last semester's grades went, Mr. Sharpe said, "All students should have received their grades by Monday (February 8)."

Mr. Sharpe said the one big problem with registration was "space." "But," he said, "we hope this will be ironed out in several meetings with the Committee on Registration."

He said the committee will have its first meeting next month. That meeting will be followed by several others until the problem is solved, Mr. Sharpe said.

Students Agree With Sharpe

OU students seemed to agree with Registrar Sharpe, that registration went much quicker this semester. Several offered varied comments.

Fred Otte, a bootstrapper said "it only took me 15 to 20 minutes to register; my only grievance is that it took me three and one half hours to change one class."

Richard Barowsky, a freshman, said "I registered last, and I was real happy with the way my counselor tried to work out a good schedule for me."

One of the first ones to register, Judy Williams, a senior, said "It was great; nothing was closed."

Howard Shrier, a junior, said, "registration was much better, but more personnel to handle class changes would have probably helped."

Buildings Won't Be Dorms; Nothing Definite Decided

"We don't have any definite ideas for the buildings yet, but they won't be dormitories. There's really no place you could put them on campus." That's how Dean of Women, Elizabeth Hill recently explained the meetings to date on the possibility of putting "lodges" on campus for use by fraternities and sororities.

Dean Hill said the social fraternities and sororities have "always" been in favor of some kind of "house or lodge." "But," she added, "things like this take time. The financial aspect of the idea is the first thing to be worked out and that is where so much time is consumed. It will be three or four years, if the plan is approved, before ground breaking."

There have been three meetings so far, according to Dean Hill. They have included representatives of the "Greek" alumni organizations: William Ger-bracht, faculty adviser to the Interfraternity Council, and Dean Hill, who acts as the faculty adviser to the Panhellenic Council.

Dean Hill said the proposed "lodges" would be used for meetings and parties. She explained that Washington University, the University of Tennessee, Southern Mississippi University, Memphis State University and other institutions have set-ups much like the one proposed at OU. She said that to her knowledge all of the "lodge" programs on the other campuses have worked out quite well.

The plan, if approved, would first have to have an okay from the organizations' alumni groups in order to start building.

Another meeting on the proposed plan is scheduled for next Monday, February 15, to discuss further ideas.

Class Changing . . . One Problem!

Dr. Traywick: 'No Change For The Sake Of Change'

By Leo Meidlinger

"There won't be change for the sake of change."

This statement by Dr. Leland Traywick, the new president of Omaha University, appears to be the summation of Dr. Traywick's administration which took over the first of this month from the 17-year reign of Dr. Milo Bail.

At his first official news conference on February 1, the eighth president of Omaha University noted he is interested in helping the growth and development of OU rather than completely overhauling the "too many good things that have been tried and proven at the university."

"I want to keep the administrative structure, the various colleges, and the solid, fundamental courses this university is noted for," Dr. Traywick added.

Although he plans no major change in policy at this time, the new president said, "that in due time, after consultation, study and analysis, some big changes will be made."

Dr. Traywick said what he basically wants to do is to add to the many good things rather than change them. "I want to help Omaha University grow and develop, rather than change," he noted.

Top Priority

The Missouri University graduate said several items will be given top priority.

One of his most important goals will be keeping present faculty members of high quality and acquiring new ones. He emphasized, however, that new faculty members shouldn't be carbon copies of present ones.

"Rather," he said, "there is a need for new faculty members with deep and wide reaching new ideas."

Dr. Traywick noted that the academic climate at OU is "excellent" for drawing new, well-qualified faculty members.

However, he said: "All universities have difficulty in recruiting personnel. The graduate schools just aren't producing enough teachers."

Dr. Traywick noted that potential teachers of today are going into research and big business because of the greater economic opportunities presented in those fields." He explained the teacher shortage boils down to a simple law of economics—supply and demand.

Formulating tentative plans for another addition to the Applied Arts Building was another item the new president said came at the top of his list.

Dr. Traywick said he plans to discuss the matter with Dean of Administration, Krik Naylor. Dr. Traywick said his talks with Naylor would center around finances and the application for partial matching funds from the federal government. Such an application would have to be made before March 15, the deadline for requests this year to receive funds under the Higher Education Facilities Act. A 900-thousand dollar addition has been proposed, one-third of which could be federally financed.

Formulate Plans

Dr. Traywick said he would also contact the deans and Board of Regents to start formulating plans for the budget for fiscal year 1966. "The funds behind the educational system make it go," he emphasized.

He said proper perspective of short and long run purposes and directions for OU must be kept in mind at all times. "We can't just think of next year," the new president said, "but must also think of what this university is perhaps going to be doing 10 or 15 years from now."

"You have to use money wisely and productively," Dr. Traywick said.

Traywick Asks Cooperation Among Nebraska Colleges

On another important matter—Dr. Traywick said he doesn't know the answer at this time to the proposal to change OU to a state supported institution. He said the administration branch of the university government must study the situation before anything definite is recommended.

He said he is looking forward to working with the University of Nebraska and all other Nebraska institutions of higher education. "Nebraska educational institutions will have to make a voluntary effort to cooperate with one another," the president said.

Independence

Traywick emphasized, however, that "we (OU) want to keep our independence as a municipal institution and do not want to become an annex of the University of Nebraska."

He said in his talks with Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin, the Nebraska Board of Regents, and the OU Regents (no one indicated a desire to have OU become an NU annex.

The new president also had these comments on various other subjects:

—"Economics should be emphasized more in all school programs, from the elementary grades up."

—"We're not in the hotel business and there is so much more to do right now," on answering a question about the possibility of future fraternity-sorority houses and dormitories at OU.

—"There are no plans at the moment to ask voters to approve an increase of in the university tax levy. A proposed increase of two mills failed two years ago at the polls."

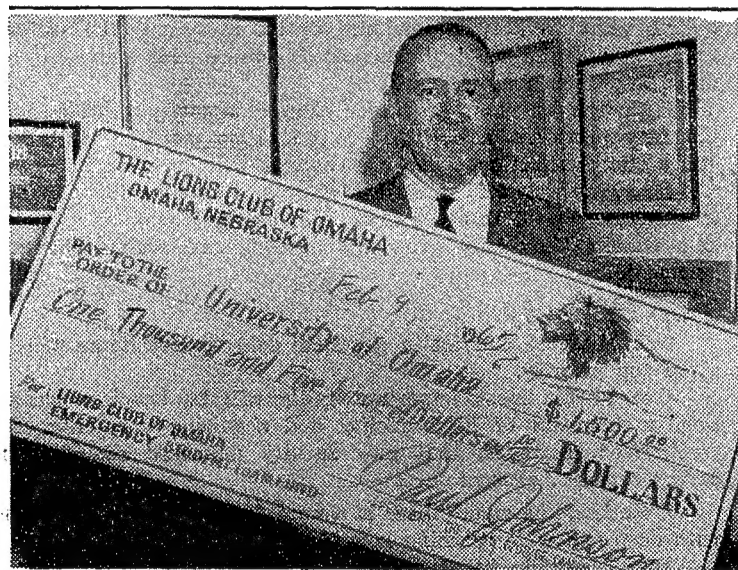

—"Dr. Milo Bail left a great legacy upon which to build. And he gave me genuine assistance in taking over the reigns."

—"I feel OU students are concerned with one major thing—learning—learning to better themselves in their lives."

—"Parking is like war and social unrest—it's always a problem."

At his news conference, Dr. Traywick offered this final comment:

"I want to work with one thing firmly in mind—to help Omaha University to continue to move ahead and grow."

Traywick... with Lions Club Check

$1,500 Lions Club Donation To Set Up New Loan Fund

The Lions Club of Omaha presented a 15-hundred-dollar check to University of Omaha president Dr. Leland E. Traywick to establish a new emergency student loan fund.

President of the Omaha Lions Club Paul Johnson, in presenting the check, said the fund will provide funds to students who are in need of immediate financial aid.

President Traywick said the money will be distributed by the University's committee on scholarships and grants.

Dean of Student Personnel Donald J. Pflasterer said the maximum amount that can be loaned any one student during a semester will be 125 dollars.

He added the new fund is unique in that it does not require repayment within the semester loaned.

The presentation came at the Lions Club regular meeting held at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel Tuesday noon.

Dean Pflasterer said Tuesday all funds in all loan funds at Omaha University have been exhausted at present.

As far as scholarships are concerned Dean Pflasterer said, "We have had to send letters of regret to more than 50 students since we had more apply than we have scholarships."

He said all short term loan funds are exhausted and his office has had to cut the amount loaned to students in half. "Normally we are able to loan about 150 dollars to each student who applies. This semester it has been cut to about 60 dollars per student," he said.

The dean added the new Lions Club Emergency Loan Fund will be a welcome addition to the student loan accounts.

He said he could see no reason for the the "run on loan monies."

Borge Appointed Head Of ETV Omaha Channel 16

By Rosemary Piepe

Paul D. Borge, director of radio and television at the University of Omaha, has been appointed manager of the Omaha Educational Television, Channel 16.

The announcement came from Dr. Paul A. Miller, head of the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association. This board is in charge of the programming for Channel 16, and includes school districts and other educational and cultural organizations.

Mr. Borge will co-ordinate all of the ETV activities which will originate in the OU studio in the Applied Arts Building.

There will be courses for students, closed circuit programs and workshops to help the teachers prepare for teaching by TV. There will be auditions for teachers in the Omaha area for the job. The teachers that are selected will be released from their jobs to come to Omaha University to do programs. They will still receive the same benefits as the other teachers in their schools. There will be sixteen teachers on the staff.

The 200-thousand-dollar tower which will be 403 feet high will be on the southeast side of the Applied Arts Building. It is estimated that the primary viewing area will have an 18-mile-radius and that the secondary area will possibly cover a 30-mile-radius.

Channel 16 hopefully will be on the air September 1. It will be a tight squeeze, but members of the commission say it can be done.

The programming mainly will be for in-school broadcasts on the elementary and secondary level said Mr. Borge. Later they hope to have programs for adults that could be taken at home for credit.

With a new television or an adopter on an older set, persons at home will be able to watch programs.

New Course Covers Public Health Nursing

A course covering the role of public health agencies and organizations in relationship to the community and nation is being offered this semester by the Omaha University Nursing Department and according to department head Dorothy Patach it is just one more step toward national accreditation of the university's baccalaureate nursing program (e. g., professional program).

Miss Patach said the program, Public Health Nursing, was started last fall. Marion Slatin, a registered nurse with a B. S. in Public Health Nursing from Columbia University and a Masters Degree in sociology from Western Michigan University, is the class instructor.

The course is for three hours of under-graduate credit towards the initial baccalaureate degree in nursing.

Miss Patach said the course is designed to find out how the nurse fits into the public health agencies. She also noted that next fall another three hour undergraduate course may be offered to get the prospective nurses out into the community to care for patients under the direction of the instructor. She added that this would also be another major step toward national accreditation by the National League of Nursing.

The league is a professional

Orchesis To Hold Practices Prior To Feb. 23 Tryouts

Practice sessions for Orchesis have been scheduled for February 16 and 19 in the West Quonset located at the rear of the Administration Building. Time for the practice sessions was set at 3:45 p.m. by Orchesis president Sheri Humphrey.

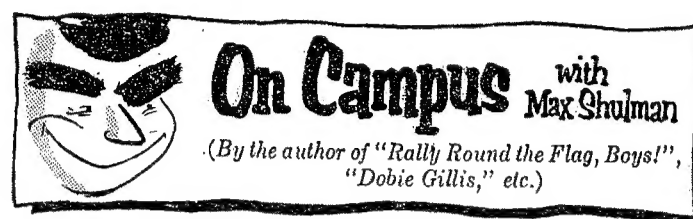

Miss Humphrey added tryouts for the group will be held on February 23 at 3:45 p.m.

She said anyone interested in the practice session or the tryouts need no previous dance experience and urged both men and women to attend.

Teachers Audition

Fifty-six teachers were auditioned at Omaha University for teaching positions on Educational Television last week. Of these, 16 were selected.

Each teacher presented a five minute program on the subject he would like to teach. This was done on video tape with students working crew. They were later viewed by a committee of the Metropolitan Educational Television Broadcasting Association.

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today I begin my eleventh year of writing this column in your campus newspaper.

I wasn't sure I'd be coming back this year. After a decade of doing this column, I had retreated to my country seat, tired but happy, to enjoy a nice long rest. But last night as I sat on my verandah, peaceful and serene, humming the lingo from A Long Day's Night and warming my dog, a stranger suddenly appeared before me.

He was a tall, clean-limbed man, crinkly-eyed and crooked-grinned, stalwart and virile. "How do you do," he said. "My name is Stalwart Virile and I am with the Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade people."

"Enchanted," I said. "Take off your homburg and sit down." I clapped my hands sharply. "Norman!" I called. "Another chair for Mr. Virile!"

Obediently my dog trotted away and returned directly with a fanback chair of Malayan rattan. He is the smartest dog in our block.

"I suppose you're wondering why I am here," said Mr. Virile, seating himself.

"Well, sir," I replied, my old eyes twinkling roguishly, "I'll wager you didn't come to read my meter."

You can imagine how we howled at that one!

"That's a doozy!" cried Mr. Virile, finally catching his breath. "I must remember to tell it to Alice when I get home."

"Your wife?" I said.

"My father," he said.

"Oh," I said.

"But enough of wit and humor," he said. "Let us get down to business. How would you like to write a campus column for Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades?"

"For money?" I said.

"Yes," he said.

"My hand, sir," I said and clasped his. Warmly he returned the pressure, and soft smiles played upon our lips, and our eyes were moist with the hint of tears, and we were silent, not trusting ourselves to speak.

"What will you write about in your campus column?" asked Mr. Virile when he was able to talk again.

"I will take up the burning issues that vex the American undergraduate!" I cried, bounding to my feet. "I will explore, without fear or favor, such explosive questions as 'Are roommates sanitary?' and 'Should proctors be given a saliva test?' and 'Should capital punishment for pledges be abolished?' and 'Can a student of 19 find happiness with an economics professor of 80?'"

"And will you also say a pleasant word from time to time about Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades?" asked Mr. Virile.

"Sir," I said simply, "what other kind of word except pleasant could I possibly say about Personna Blades, which give me more luxury shaves than Beep-Beep or any other blade I might name?"

"Another of my products is Burma Shave," said Mr. Virile. "Can you find it in your heart to mention Burma Shave occasionally?"

"But of course!" I declared. "For is not Burma Shave the whisker-wiltingest lather in the land?"

"Yes," he admitted.

And then he shook my hand again and smiled bravely and was gone—a tall silhouette moving erectly into the setting sun. "Farewell, good tonsorialist!" I cried after him. "Aloha!"

And turned with a will to my typewriter.

From The Bushes

By Mike Moran

Big Jimmy . . . .

Word comes that Coach Don Benning has nominated Tom Maides to wrestle in the heavyweight spot for OU against Graceland this evening.

The man he replaced was big Jimmy Jones, probably the most magnificent athletic specimen ever to enroll at our campus. Unfortunately, the reason for Jones' replacement were not given because of the ever present fog of "no comment" by coaches who take the interest of their athletes at heart and spare them from public intrusion.

Jones stands 6-5 and weighs about 260 pounds. He runs like a deer, and can, when properly aroused, lift an opponent four feet off the ground with a forearm shiver.

Jones

His scholastic efforts have been notable in that he has maintained one of the higher averages among OU athletes despite competing in three sports.

Yet, Jones wrestled this year like a man preoccupied with something else. This same boy was so highly thought of by NAIA officials that he was chosen to represent them in the Olympic Trials last summer.

This past Autumn, despite leading the squad in pass receptions, Jones often was noted in films to be standing idly by while action whirled about him on the field.

The reason for Jimmy's removal from a heavyweight spot that should be his, even blindfolded, may never be revealed. But with a year left in what could be a great college football career and a shot with the pros, I hope Jim Jones can answer his critics with the desire and hustle to make him what he can be.

To put such a wealth of God-given talent to waste would be a travesty to athletics.

Return Bout . . . .

Big Sam Singleton suddenly is at what may be one of the very important crossroads of his young life. The superb basketball player had his career cut short this year after losing a battle with the books.

A lesser boy might be inclined to give it all up and say "to hell with it", thereby becoming a quitter. But Sam seems to be making what most feel will be a beneficial step towards becoming a man.

Not only has he re-enrolled at OU in hopes of getting his eligibility back, but he is pursuing a coaching venture at an Omaha Youth Center.

Big Sam was just becoming a ballplayer when ineligibility cut him off. He should have no trouble in continuing on that course if he regains his chance to play next year.

Mackie . . . .

Little Bobbie Mackie did Omaha U a big favor when he scorched the nets one night in 1954 to lead the Indians to what perhaps is the greatest OU victory ever, a rouser over arch-rival Creighton.

Ten years later, he does it again, this time by sending his alma mater a smooth freshman in Bill Haas. However, this time he's coach Bob Mackie of Ralston High, the proud possessor of one State championship and another on the way, he hopes.

Bob Mackie

Mackie is a tribute to the OU staff and to himself. Our University has turned out some fine young coaches, but the little guy from Ralston leads the list in my book.

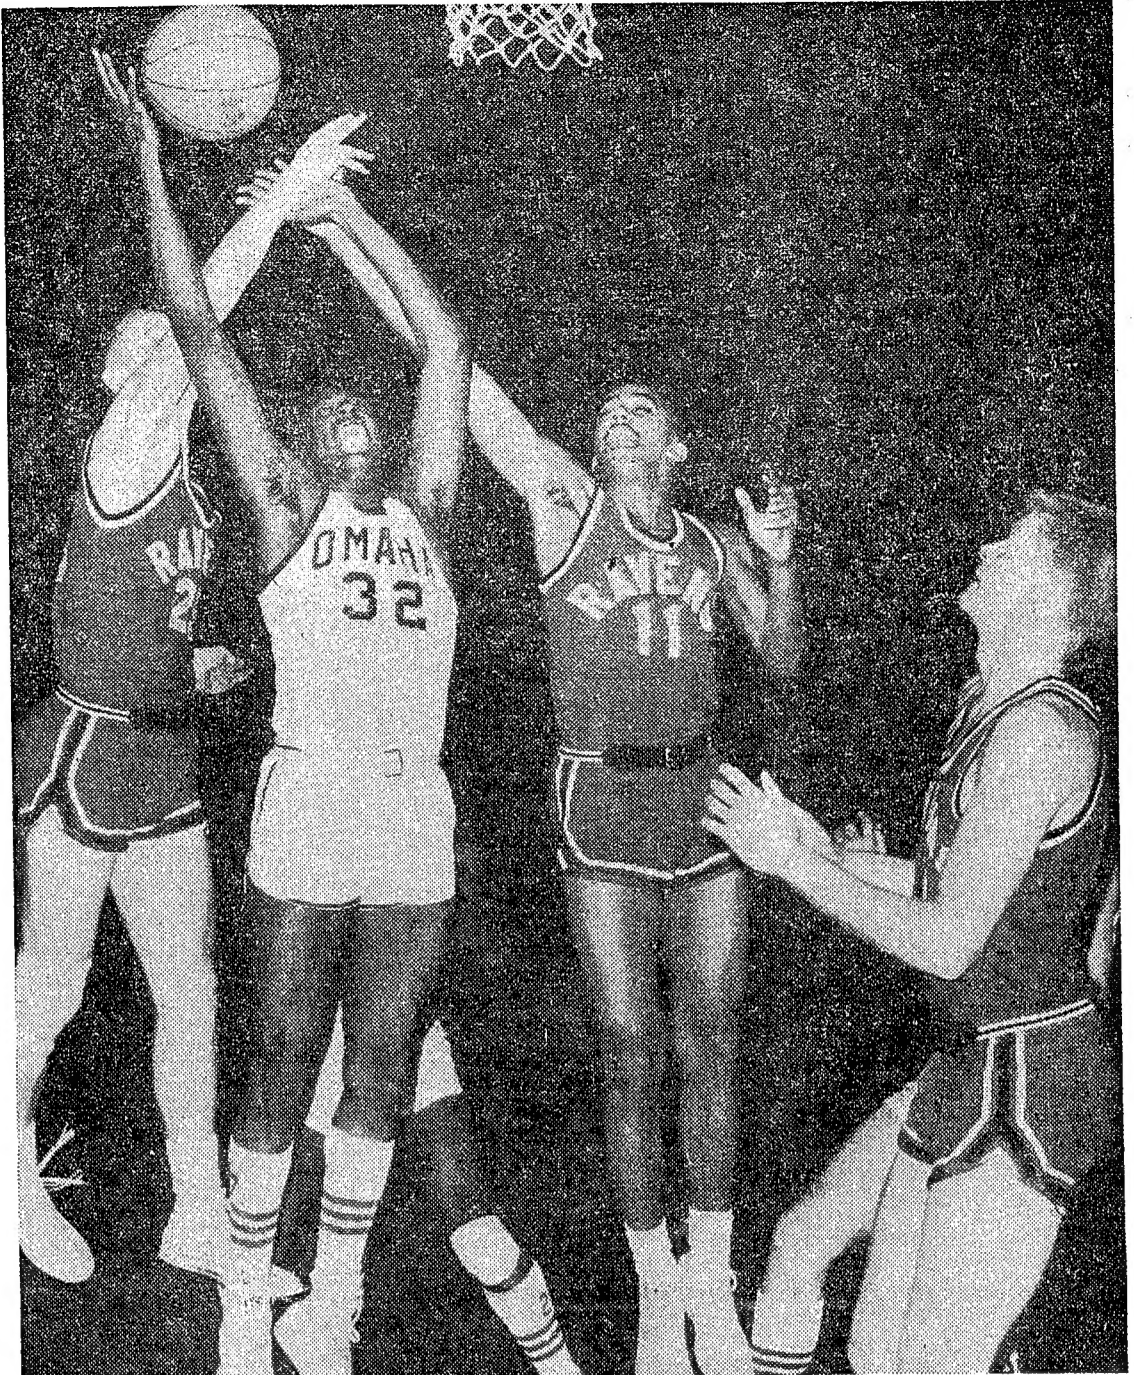

Mackie's brilliant record is matched only by his personality and popularity with his ballplayers. He took his lumps for two years after taking the Ram job, but since then has turned the suburban school into a class "B" power.

However, Mackie's luck recently did run out at a banquet he attended. Entering the room with a friend and former coaching rival, Jerry Koch of Westside, Mackie politely stepped aside to let the older Koch go ahead.

Both men received numbers at the door for a prize to be awarded later.

You guessed it, Koch had number 71 and the polite Mackie had 72.

Friend Koch won a free trip to Las Vegas . . . Mackie won two free haircuts.

Ravens Crush Weakened Omaha; N. E. Missouri Here Monday Nite

by Mike Moran

New Omaha University President Dr. Leland Traywick told a Lion's Club luncheon Tuesday noon that he had been told "we are going to beat those clowns from St. Benedict's tonight."

Well, the powerful looked anything but clowns and the game scarcely resembled a circus, as the Kansans mauled OU, 86-57.

It was win number fourteen in a row for the 16-2 Ravens and their third of the season over Omaha. It also was probably the finest team to invade the Indian maples in many a moon.

Hot Hands

The Kansans poured in 48 percent of their shots in the first stanza to lead a riddled OU club, 43-24. Omaha hit only 20 percent and six field goals in falling behind.

The second half was no different as 6-5 freshman wonder Daryl Jones of St. Louis and big Pat Hare dominated both boards and scored almost at will against the out-firepowered Indians.

Larry Villnow, at 6-7 the tallest OU regular by four inches, played perhaps his best game of his career by turning in 22 points and getting a goodly share of rebounds against the aggressive Ravens.

Omaha reserves turned in good jobs in the losing cause. 6-4 Jim Vincent and newcomer Maurice Wade showed good moves and probably earned themselves a regular playing berth.

Dick Osterhaus, from the outside, and Bill Haas, from the inside, were OU's only other threats with 10 and 11 points.

OU will be away tomorrow night against Washburn, a team that is tied with OU and two others for tops in the CIC. A good Northeast Missouri team will invade the OU court Monday night at eight.

Weakened by the loss of leading scorer Sam Singleton, plus a frigid first half, visiting Omaha fell to the University of Minnesota at Duluth, 75-54, February 4th.

Swimmers Set Marks And Hoop Tourney Begins As Intramural Activity Begins Second Semester Grind In High Gear

Pi Kaps swept first place honors in the intramural swimming meet held Wednesday night at McMillan Jr. High School.

The Pi Kaps grabbed 67 points with their closest competition coming from the Independents, 51 points, barely nosed out the Sig Eps who garnered 46. From there it was a long fall to Lambda Chi who finished with 20 points and the TKE's, finishing with eight points.

No new records were set this year but one former winner did repeat. John Thomas, winner of the 50-yard breaststroke in 1963, did the trick again this year. His time was three seconds slower than his old record of 30.1 seconds set in 1963.

Following are the eight event meet winners:

Intramural basketball swung into tournament action Monday night with the Cherubs, top dog in league No. 3 establishing themselves an early favorite by whopping the Meadow Larks 69-31. The Cherubs next opponent are the Cagers, 48-38 winners over Delta Rho.

In other tournament action, the Graduates soundly defeated the Lit' Pikes 56-26, thereby setting up a head-to-head meeting with league No. 1 top-rated Fugitives in their next round on February 18. Showing new found power, Lambda Chi crushed the Rinky Dinks 71-25. Lambda Chi will meet the win-er of perennial darkhorse Marvin Club and Bootstrap game played last night.

The Marvin Club is coming back with the nucleus of the same club that knocked off one top team last year and played another power to a standstill before finally bowing out.

Also springing into action Thursday night are the Eagles, who finished the season in second place in league No. 3.

The regular basketball season ended with a three way tie for first place in league No. 1. Tied with identical 6-1 records are the Fugitives, Sig Eps and Zekes. Due to time conflicts, a playoff will not be held among these teams. According to Bert Kurth, Intramural director, if any one of these teams happens to win the tournament, the winner will take home both the tournament and league trophies.

Only one team among all three leagues managed to remain undefeated for the season. This trick was accomplished by the Flyers in league No. 2. However, they got knocked off in a special "exhibition" game Wednesday night by the Fugitives so the tournament looks like a wide open affair.

Among the fraternities, the Sig Eps swept top honors by sporting a 5-0 fraternity record and accumulating an overall 6-1 record. Finishing at the bottom was Theta Chi with a 0-5 fraternity record. They didn't fare much better in league play either, finishing the season with an overall 0-7 mark.

Caniglia All Smiles As Far As '65 Football Fortunes Go

Newcomers Brighten Already Optimistic Indian Outlook For Gridiron Wars

By Mike Moran

OU head football coach Al Caniglia was a happy man Tuesday morning. The stubby mentor flashed a big smile and puffed away on a six inch cigar as he talked about 1965 prospects.

"Yep, we came through all right. We didn't pick up all the junior college kids we wanted, but we should get some in the Fall as well as a big tackle and halfback from the Coast Guard."

"Say speaking of backs, 'Al said, motioning to some imaginary roster with his cigar, 'We've got the best bunch of big backs ever. You take kids like Dodd at 215, Allen at 205, Ricky Davis at 185 and so forth and that's quite a collection, huh!"

For clarification, Dodd is big Bill Dodd, the former Central star who was the regular tail-en (All-CIC guard Harlan Aden from the 1964 squad. He has talented ends in Mike Di Biase, 260-pound Jimmy Jones, Terry Edwards and Gary Neumann.

He has big tackles in Bill Jansen, Jerry Ferguson and Tom Hutchison, plus outstanding linebackers in Larry Von Tersch and defensive specialist Ron Stave, (All-CIC in 1964).

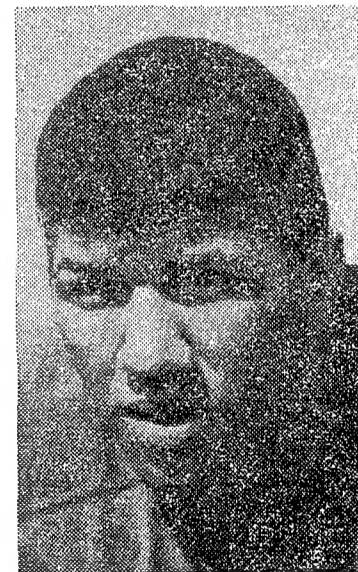

Caniglia went on, "Actually, we do need some good two way tackles, but not much else. Depth is always a concern and we would be more than happy to be two deep at every spot."

Umbrella Needed

The OU defensive secondary will be in for an overhaul if things go as planned. Repeatedly bombed last Fall, OU pass defenders managed a decent recovery in the last two games.

"It's only a matter of adjustment," says Caniglia. "Kids like Crum (Don), Cal McGruder, Garrison and Butler have the desire to play the secondary and they will be better next time around."

OU has some outstanding versatility experts to go with the mainstays. Big Tom Wolff, who has played every position from back at Wyoming last Fall. He is now enrolled at OU and eagerly awaiting spring drills.

Allen . . . 205

Caniglia is obviously happy about that, and equally pleased with soph halfback Rick Davis, a former North High All-Stater who played freshman ball at Kansas before transferring to OU.

Allen, of course, is Little All-America halfback Gerald Allen, Omaha's leading rusher in 1965.

Quarterback Strong

"We'll have plenty of good quarterbacks, too, make no mistake about it," says Caniglia. "We'll have Briscoe (All-CIC QB Marlin Briscoe) besides Bill Haas and Lew Garrison to back him up."

"Our line should be adequate if all goes right. Reed Shipman may or may not graduate, so we will just have to see about him. But we'll have good tackles and guards, especially Ad-end to field judge while earning three letters, has volunteered to try the center spot if Shipman does not return.

Add Ken Pelan, Bud Crum and others, and you have some good material to fill with in a spot.

You Might Say He Likes It Here

Baseball coach Virgil Yelkin has been Athletic Director at OU since 1946. He earned his Bachelor's degree in Education at Nebraska in 1936 and his Master's degree at OU in 1954.

To Try Again . . .

Blizzard Nixes First Indoor Meet; Green Omaha Squad Faces Hurdles

Tonight's schedule triangular track meet with South Dakota and Emporia State has been cancelled due to the bad weather and road conditions. OU coach Lloyd Cardwell says that both teams will be invited to participate in later meets at Omaha.

Nebraska Wesleyan and Wayne State, plus one of tonight's opponents, will make up a quadrangular next Friday night at the OU fieldhouse.

Cardie's squad will be without the services of nationally ranked sprinters Roger Sayers and Terry Williams for the first time in two years.

Sayers has graduated and the speedy Williams is ineligible gradewise this semester. Sprinters Dennis Ondilla and Max Kurz are young and eager replacements for the speedy pair.

Gould Doubtful

OU distance star Ken Gould is still in doubt because of an incomplete grade in a political science course. The record setting Indian runner needs to pass a paper before he is eligible.

Hurdles appear to be the OU strong point with veterans Clyde Kettleson and Ed Neel. Possible star Rick Davis quit the squad to help the wrestling team and will not compete.

OU's middle distance help will come from veterans Ray Hultman, Herb Rhodes, Loren Drum and Pat Giddings.

Sprinters Kurz, Ondilla . . . await indoor test

The Indian field event corps will be the weakest in years and Cardwell declined to name starter in those events.

Camien & Camien

Powerful Emporia will bring premier miler John Camien, who has the nation's fastest time (4:07.1) this year, and his brother Bob, a freshman who is running faster times as a yearling than John did.

The Hornets also have 9.5 sprinter Earl White and 13 foot pole vaulters C. R. Robe and Steve Mitchell.

South Dakota, deprived of indoor facilities, has an improved squad. Sprinter Leonard Klimment already has a 6.3 clocking in the 60 this year.

Veterans Terry Bong, Dan McCarty and Jake Slicht are also Coyote Stars expected to shine this season.

All men interested in playing baseball at Omaha University are urged to attend a preliminary meeting in the Southwest corner of the Fieldhouse, Monday, February 15th, at 3:30.

Head Baseball Coach Virgil Yelkin will handle the meeting and discuss the upcoming season, regulations, practice sessions, and other pertinent information.

The Indians open the 1965 baseball season on April 2nd with North Dakota State at OU. It will be a doubleheader.

OU Athletes Are Scholars Also; Kettlesen Tops

Those skeptics who might be inclined to view Omaha University athletes as a strange breed of cat that doesn't know how to read or write, might take notice of the grades posted by OU performers during the first semester.

Nine athletes posted averages of 3.00 or better, according to statistics revealed by Faculty Athletic Committee Chairman Dr. Paul Kennedy.

Sixteen others had grades of 2.6 or better during the first semester of 1964-65. Eighteen others are above 2.5. These are the best marks by OU athletes in several years.

Junior track star Clyde Kettlesen led all performers with a 3.5 average this semester.

Graceland Tonight . . .

Wrestlers Host Kansas U Saturday Night At 7:30

by Ken McEwen

A revamped wrestling team is on their way to Lamoni, Iowa today for a 7:30 p.m. match with Greenland. It will be the first match for the team in three weeks.

Coach Don Benning seems more concerned about the lay-off than the changes in his line up. The changes in the line up came during the middle of the week to fill vacancies left by Jerseyites Jerry McDonald, who transferred, and Phil Goduto, who was declared scholastically ineligible. Transfer student Rick Davis should be hanging onto the 167-pound spot after becoming eligible for the second semester. Tom Bell from South is expected to be at the 123-pound position with Tom, Maides of Central filling in at the heavyweight spot for Jim Jones.

Benning said that he felt that there was a change needed in the heavyweight spot. In all, with the addition of these three freshmen, the team became even younger with five freshmen, two sophomores and one junior.

Tough Chore

As to filling the sneakers of Jerry McDonald, the chore is left to Ken Netwig. Benning capable, "but needs to develop confidence in himself."

The coach went on to comment that on the team as a whole, "The squad has been one where other men have taken up the slack and therefore should not be hurting as much as some people expect."

The encounter with Graceland tonight should prove interesting to see if the team can take up the slack. Earlier this year, against Graceland, the Indians soundly defeated them 28-5. Benning was cautious when recalling the score. He said that there were a lot of close matches in that meet and that the Graceland team should not be underestimated. The Iowans boast a much improved squad with a win over the University of Missouri and good showing against Colorado. They also have an addition of two transfer students since the last meeting. The coach said that "this score was also not an indication of team strength because Omaha was exceptionally good that night."

Home Again

Tomorrow night the squad will be back home again to take on Kansas at 7:30 in the Fieldhouse. Omaha doesn't know much about the Kansas wrestlers because of the recent death of their publicity man. Benning is looking to a fairly strong team in Kansas because of their exceptionally strong freshman team last year. Kansas did come out fourth best recently in a quadrangular meet with Big Eight schools. The coach again didn't express concern over this. His reason for this was that many times the match can go according to the draw and who wrestles who.

Next Tuesday the Indians will meet South Dakota in the Fieldhouse at 6:00. South Dakota offers an average team. South Dakota University was the loser to South Dakota State, a team that Omaha beat earlier.

Strongest Schedule Ever Highlights 1965 Omaha U. Baseball Program; Veteran Pitching Bolsters OU Hopes For Another Outstanding Diamond Record

by Angus Campbell

One of the toughest schedules in history will face Omaha U's baseball team this spring. Coach and Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin said this week that the schedule was arranged to develop a strong pitching staff and is aimed at the CIC and NAIA tournaments in May and June.

At least five new opponents are on the schedule: Wichita University, North Dakota State, Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Additions to the schedule also include Arkansas, an Omaha opponent once more than ten years ago and Wayne State, which the Indians have met only in tournament play.

No CIC opponents are on the regular schedule. The conference championship will this year be decided by a double-elimination tournament to be held in Emporia, Kansas the sixth, seventh and eighth of May.

Coach Yelkin said the new CIC format was established at the annual league meeting December fifth and will be an annual affair. Omaha will host the tourney next season.

Another tournament on the schedule will be at Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma. The April 16th and 17th competition will wind up a week-long southern swing for the OU nine.

Yelkin said the 1965 team should have good speed and he hopes a good pitching staff will develop. He pointed out that the big question is in the hitting department.

Yelkin cited the losses of catcher Don Grudiel, slugger Wanye Backus, first baseman Ken Allen and pitcher Frank Pecha as the hardest to absorb. The first three have graduated and Pecha is scholastically ineligible.

Pitching Strong

Pitchers Larry Krehbiel, Ken McEwen, Jim Butler and Larry Wood will return from last years squad and will be joined by several rookies.

The mound staff veterans will be bolstered by the addition of Omahans John Robino, Don Rezac and Lewis Garrison. Other new pitchers are Dan Jacot of Papillion and Massachusetts native Gary Girouard, Offutt Air Base standout last year.

DIANE CADE

SPECIAL EVENTS EDITOR

Well, here we go on that academic merry-go-round again for another semester. Yes, it's a new semester filled with new faces, new experiences, new friends and all this is being viewed by a new pair of eyes on campus, our new president, Dr. Leland Traywick. The Gateway staff welcomes Dr. Traywick to the University of Omaha. Registration Riot

Probably one thing that lingers in the minds of college students longest of all are those college registration days (and evenings). Although scoffed at by most and rejected by others as something worse than death, we must admit registration builds character and instills a sense of perseverance in a student. While nurturing an indomitable spirit in its participants, along with a backache and flat feet, we learn that it is only through relentless pursuit that the prize is won. Then there are always those poor souls who used the wrong call number or whose class was closed just as they got in line to pick up their class cards. This made additional work for the registrar as well as for the registrants.

But, it wasn't only the students who got caught in the registration labyrinth. The administration had its share of woe. More than 100 persons including student personnel, worked to keep order last week.

Honored Debators

The OU speech department deserves a pat on the back for fostering the debate talents of Steve Boguchwal and John Hubert who recently took first place honors in the Nebraska Wesleyan University's collegiate debate and oratory tournament. I guess this goes to show that it's not only women who do the talking.

Europe or Bust

The American Student Information Service announces that there are still more than 20,000 summer jobs available in Europe to U.S. college students. The jobs are being filled on a first come, first served basis and the ASIS is granting a $390 travel grant to each of the first 5,000 applicants.

Some positions pay $400 a month with no previous experience or foreign language ability required. Room and board are often included.

If you want to seek the beauty and romance of Europe . . . on a budget . . . just write to Dept. IV, ASIS, 22 Avenue, De La Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Peace Corps Tests

Are you interested in joining the Peace Corps?

College students 18 or over and having no dependents under 18 are excellent material for America's Peace Corps. Each year a testing center is set up here in Omaha for testing interested young men and women who wish to devote a few years of their youth in helping people help themselves everywhere in the world.

Testing centers for the Peace Corps will be located in room 1014 of the Federal Building on 215 North 17th Street, February 13 and again March 13. The actual testing will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Pictures, Pictures Everywhere . . .

A good way to learn to appreciate art is simply to look at it at every opportunity. You now have an opportunity to look at compositions done by the OU Art Department faculty in the Faculty Art Show, now being presented for you in room 313 of the Milo Bail Student Center. The art pieces, ranging from oils to water colors and prints to sculpture, will be on display from February 8 to 26. The room will be open from 11:00 to 5:00 daily except Monday when it will be open from 11:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Why don't you peek in and get an eye full of beautiful colors.

Typewriter Suggestions

Tentative plans for purchasing typewriters for students use were announced this week by Student Council president Rich Tompsett.

Tompsett said the Student Council would like to have suggestions from students on how best to use the typewriters, if they were purchased, and where the best place to put them would be. Proposed plans call for the typewriters to be installed in one of the music department classrooms. A minimum fee for maintenance of the machines would be charged.

Tompsett suggested any ideas on the matter be submitted either to the Student Council or to him.

Jim Borsheim came to Omaha University after a five-year stint at Dakota Wesleyan University. At DWU he won 73 and lost 37 games.

Traywick Travels To Unicameral

President Leland Traywick traveled to Lincoln Wednesday to study the Nebraska Unicameral.

Dr. Traywick said he went at the invitation of State Senator Pat Moulton of Omaha, "to learn as much as could about the Nebraska legislature."

The OU president said there were a number of bills which in one way or another could affect the university and that he wanted to find out something about them. He said, however, he was not apprehensive of any proposed legislation at this time.

He said one bill, a junior college bill, would pay each concerned institution 150 dollars per year for each student at the freshman and sophomore levels. Dr. Traywick added that it would have no affect on the municipal standing, of OU, though.

President Traywick said he hopes to know more about the proposed legislation within the next week to 10 days after all of the bills are numbered.

Bye-Bye Parking

The application for the construction of the ETV tower has been filed with the Federal Communication Commission.

This tower will be constructed in the faculty and staff parking lot that is south of the Applied Arts Building. It is understood that there will still be some parking there for the faculty and staff.

OU President To Talk At Clergy Workshop

Omaha University president, Dr. Leland Traywick, will address the Clergy Economics Education Workshop, this Sunday, February 14, at Boystown.

Dr. Traywick explained the workshop is designed to lend further basic economic understanding to clergymen of all faiths.

The program, initiated by Dr. Owen Davis of Purdue University, got its start back in the late 1940's. Dr. Traywick said the workshop attempts to help the clergymen better understand the workings of secular economics. The new OU president has worked with this type of program in various states and cities since its creation.

British born Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, head of the University of Omaha history department, was educated at the Victoria University in Manchester, England.

'Talk' Tour During Break Brings Laurels To Orators

Omaha University's debaters once again received honors at several debate tournaments during the semester break.

Steve Boguchwal and John Hubert won the first place trophy as the only undefeated team at a debate tournament at Nebraska Wesleyan University. There were twelve colleges and universities represented at the tournament.

D. L. Aschenbrenner, OU' debate coach also took five students on an extended tour during the semester break. They attended a debate tournament in Pittsburg, Kansas where the debate team of Denny Adams and Jim Foral won four debates and lost two. Janet Volte and Mary Jo Brandt won two and lost four. Karen Karsten-son entered a television speaking contest and placed second.

The five then traveled to Texas Western University where they split with their opponents.

The group's last stop was Denver University, where schools from twelve states attended. Here the Adams-Foral team won three and lost three.

Theatre Production Set For Mar. 11-12-13

"She Stoops To Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith will be presented by the University Theatre March 11-12-13 in the Administration Building Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

"It is one of the funniest plays in the English languages," according to University Theatre Director Dr. Edwin L. Clark.

Tryouts were held February 8-9-10. Leads were to be announced on or near February 11. Approximately 16 parts are to be filled.

Speaker Tonight For Civil Engineers Club

The Civil Engineers Club will hold a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the Milo Bail S. C. room 302.

Guest speaker will be Howard Lundgren of the Leo Daly Co.

All engineering students are invited to attend.

Turn, Trip, Fall Down Frug, Easy As Falling Off Log - Minus Log

Somebody once said that dancing is the art of moving your feet out of the way before your partner steps on them.

That quaint aphorism has nothing to do with this article, but I thought I would put it in as an ice-breaker—which happens to be the name of a new dance. No . . . not the quaint aphorism . . . the "ice-breaker" is the new dance.

I was fortunate enough to learn about all the new dances from Smedly (Twinkle-Toes) Tilson, who is one of the more hippy-cools in that area.

I collared Smedly at a G G, Y D M T T M I M A A Dance! ie., a Good Grief, you don't mean to tell me it's Monday again already Dancé! Smedly was jumping and jerking and twisting and falling down quite frequently . . . he was either dancing or he had to go to the restroom rather badly. He seemed a bit irritated when I interrupted him.

"Now look what you've made me do," he said. "You've made me get out of step."

"How do you know when you are out of step," I asked.

"Very funny," he said, doing the "Watusi" on my insteps.

"Well," I said, "now that you have that out of your system; tell me about all the new dances."

"The one I was doing when you so rudely interrupted was the 'Turn, Trip, Fall-Down Frug.'"

"Say," I said, "that's catchy."

"It sounds like it would make a good record."

"As a matter of fact, it is a record," said Smedly. "Sandy Surf and the Beach Balls put it out. It is number one in the nation, and number 37 in Omaha."

"That figures," I said, "but tell me how you do it."

"It's quite simple, said Smedly, "you merely do what you do with any other rock-n-roll dance—fake it. But the big difference with the 'Turn Trip, Fall-Down Frug' is that you plant your right foot firmly to the floor and try to make a 180 degree turn to your right. The rest is as easy as falling off a log, which is exactly what you do except there isn't any log. However, you have to time your fall so that you hit the floor in juxtaposition with the drummer's downbeat."

"In other words," I explicated, "one doesn't want to hit the floor on the up-beat, does one?"

"No," Smedly said, "one doesn't. And, of course, you and your partner don't have to turn, trip, and fall down at the same time — although it's more fun that way."

"I can well imagine," I said well imagining.

"And another good thing about this dance," added Smedly, "is that you don't even need a partner."

"I agree," I said. "In fact, I am quite adept at turning, tripping, and falling down, not only without a partner, but without musical accompaniment."

"It is advisable to have a partner, however," continued Smedly completely ignoring my witty remark, "in case you should injure yourself seriously in the fall. It is rather revolting to have to crawl off the dance floor unassisted."

Smedly then told me about all the other new dance sensations that are sweeping the nation, such as: "The Twitch," "The Wombat," "The Oops-A-Daisy," and "The Turtle soup with croutons."

"What's the difference between all these dances?" I asked.

"Only one thing," replied Smedly (Twinkle-Toes) Tilson . . . "the name."

"Fine, fine," I said, "I think I'll sit them all out."

Forms Now Available For New AFROTC Program

Director of Aerospace Studies at the University of Omaha Lt. Col. E. P. Ratti said this week forms are now available for any students wishing information concerning the new two-year program in AFROTC.

Colonel Ratti said the forms are merely a device to enable the department to contact interested students and to arrange tests and examinations.

He said the new program has been given a quota by the Defense Department of 12 hundred. "The information form will also act as a method of putting an interested person 'on the list' to enter the two-year program," Colonel Ratti said. He indicated the new program would be competitive for entrance.

Requirements for entering the new program are two fold:

—The applicant must pass a physical examination, and, The applicant must receive a passing grade on the Air Force Officers Qualifying Test

Colonel Ratti emphasized the information form carries no obligation for entrance in a military program. "It is merely an information sheet whereby we can contact interested students," he said.

Hearty Welcome Goes to Traywick

Dr. Leland E. Traywick was welcomed to his new post by several events sponsored by his university colleagues.

On Feb. 1, his first day on campus, Traywick had breakfast with the Administrative Council in the Milo Bail Student Center.

Later that day he lunched with the Student Council and Alumni.

A reception was also held Feb. 1 for Traywick. Here he met with students, faculty, staff and alumni.

Dr. and Mrs. Leland Traywick were honored at an afternoon tea held Sunday by Chi Omega sorority.

Faculty members, officers of student organizations and Chi Omega alumnae were guests at the affair held in the Milo Bail Student Center Ballroom.

Barbara Covault was chairman of the event. She was assisted by Linda Krebs and Peggy Parden.

In their 52 years of football competition, Omaha University football teams have a record of 150 wins, 147 losses and 25 ties.

The forms are available in his office, room 177, Administration Building.

W. B. Graham On National Telecast

During the semester break, Walter Graham, an instructor in journalism traveled to Los Angeles for a short vacation.

While there, he was selected out of a studio audience to appear on the "Truth or Consequences" show. He along with two other husbands had to give three reasons why their wives fell in love with them. If their wives could name the same reasons, they would win twenty dollars for each match.

Mrs. Graham named two of the reasons, (1) Mr. Graham's thick black hair and (2) Mr. Graham's being a magician. She failed to name the third—his car.

The couple won forty dollars, some kitchen appliances and a bottle of perfume.

By the way Mr. Graham's "thick, black hair" is now nonexistent.

Food Service Boss New ORA President

Semester break proved to be an interesting one for Mrs. Carol Graham, director of food services at Omaha University.

Mrs. Graham was elected president of the Omaha Restaurant Association, on January 28. Mrs. Graham, who has been at OU for six years, has been a member of the Association for four years and has previously served as Executive Secretary of the organization.

The day after she took office, Mrs. Graham was sent to Washington, D. C. by the president of the Nebraska Restaurant Association. Mrs. Graham made the trip to attend the Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Conference and to confer with Nebraska legislators and senators. She had a half-hour interview with each senator to discuss current issues dealing with food service.

Omaha University's athletic teams are members of the Central Intercollegiate Conference and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Busch Wins Scholarship

Dave Busch continues to make his mark in the world of music. In addition to being one of the last of the great oboe reed whittlers, the senior music major plays the oboe, English horn and clarinet.

Busch was recently awarded the Omaha Civic Music Association Scholarship of two-hundred-fifty dollars — for the fourth straight year.

During semester break, Busch flew to Washington D. C. where he auditioned for and won a place with the Navy Band. He will begin his tour of duty with the Navy Band in June.

Another recent honor was his election to the presidency of the Music Educators National Conference. The MENC is an organization for those going into music teaching on the elementary and secondary level. Busch was vice-president of the group last year.

A speech minor, Busch was a student teacher in a speech class at Tech last semester. This semester, he is student teaching music at Benson High.

Busch plays in both the Omaha and Lincoln symphonies.

Filipino Visits OU On Training Tour

Romeo C. Tomacruz, physical plant director at the University of the Philippines is on campus this week. Mr. Tomacruz arrived Wednesday and will leave tomorrow for the next stop on his long journey.

Jointly sponsored by the United States and Philippine governments, Tomacruz is in the United States for six months of training. His purpose is to study the management, maintenance and operations, space utilization, planning and new construction, and the administrative and business aspects of university physical plants throughout the country.

Arriving in the United States in September, Tomacruz spent three months at the University of Indiana on academic studies.

Since that time, he has visited universities in Athens, Ga;

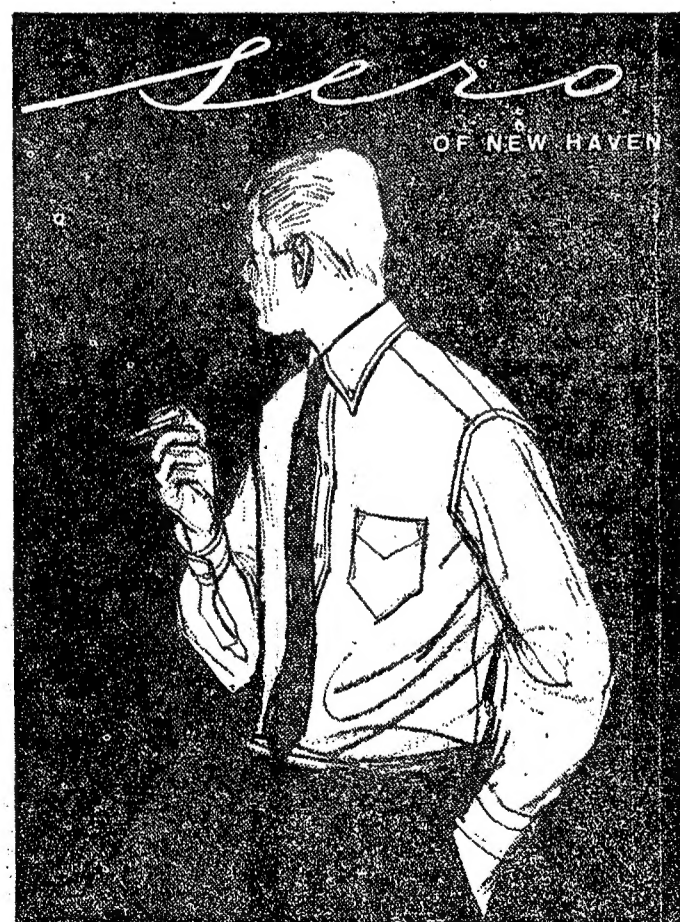

Tallahassee, Gainesville, Tampa, Boca Raton, Miami, and Coral Gables, Fla; San Juan, Puerto Rico; New York and Chicago.

Tomacruz came from Chicago to OU.

"I'm spending more time here than at any of the other universities," Mr. Tomacruz observed. "I only spent one day at most of the others."

From here he goes to Washington D. C. for a day and then on to Atlantic City to attend the American Association of School Administrators Convention. OU Physical Plant Superintendent Clarence Lefler will also attend that convention.

Following the convention, Tomacruz's stops include schools in Albuquerque, N. M.; Provo, Utah; San Mateo, San Francisco and Los Altos Hills, Calif.
